

LU#3 "Total Money Makeover!"

www.lipscombunderground.com

vol. XI, no. 278 September 13, 2005

---

Another week, another round of tests and papers, and another edition of the Lipscomb Underground! This week is a little light on replies, so if you have a new topic you'd like to introduce or some beef about something happening on campus, send it in and we'll get some fresh air in here.

And hey, if you're feeling bored one day and haven't done so already, go check out the Lipscomb Underground Archives, especially the first few years. This site was quite a different animal back in the day, and I think you might find some surprisingly good stuff there.

Also, I've been asked to remind everyone that Lipscomb is now on Facebook! You can register here.

E-mail subscriptions are always available; just send me an e-mail and I'll add you to the list.

---

LOL! LU Personals!

My dear JMG, you are silly. But hey, i'll bite. My name is Natalie and I'm 5'4", blonde and blue-eyed, and The Notebook is my favorite movie. I'm currently pledging Delta Xi, Kappa Gamma Lamda, Beta Theta Alpha Iota Phi, and the Physics Club. I'm from Alabama and my major is Business and Theater. I love dancing, scrapbooking, and having fun! GO BISONS!

I'll have to give you my digital picture later on.

Thanx! C U l8tr!

;)

(Thanks, Natalie. I'm tellin' ya, folks, I've got a lot more where this one came from!... OK, maybe not. Honestly, I was hoping someone wouldn't see the "Cheesy Filler" logo and take the ad seriously. Guess I'd better try harder next time. -- Justin)

Reply

---

To "One of God's People:"

When I speak of the church of Christ, I'm talking about the church that we read about in the New Testament, not the one described in the 1906 Census. After all...it is the Lord's church. Those weren't my opinions that you read, Jesus warned about false teachings as did Paul. Anything added or taken away to Christ's doctrine is detrimental to one's soul.

Yes Jesus loves and died for everyone, but "not everyone who says "Lord, Lord" will enter the kingdom of heaven."

You can find that in the Bible as well.

Sincerely,

Eric Huffman

(Maybe it's just me, but I think the issue here is not as much whether Christ's doctrine is any good, but rather what exactly is Christ's doctrine? As long as different people read the scripture for themselves, they're going to come to different understandings. Of course some understandings are better than others, but it seems to me that God accepts us whether we understand everything perfectly or not. Maybe I should have made this into a separate post... -- Justin)

Reply

---

To Eric Huffman:

What is your view of the (millions? billions?) of Christians who were born after the third or fourth century and before the 1800's and never heard of many of the doctrines of the Modern church of Christ? In other words, did God just let history go through a period of 1400 years without any "true" Christians?

I guess the point I'm getting at is that the organization known today in the United States as the "Church of Christ" is just as much a result of human ideas and culture as many other denominations. The very idea that we can take the bible and extract from it a timeless, universal pattern for the church is a human idea, resulting from post-Renaissance ("Modern") ways of thinking. I'm not saying that the Church of Christ is bad, just that it has human flaws like any other church organization around it. There are some things I think we've gotten right that others could learn from, but there are also a lot of things about God that we could learn from other believers around us.

For as long as I live, I am

GM

(Were you in that class, too? -- Justin)

Reply

---

In response to the recent posts by Eric Huffman:

What do you mean we are the only ones who have a chance? What about the children who don't know Christ..what about the people who have never heard the name Jesus or God before...what about them..they have a chance don't they?

(I got nothin'. -- Justin)

Reply

---

Calling all you Photoshop junkies out there:

How would you like your creative genius to be posted on the Underground? Well here's your chance! The source picture is below. Do something funny to it in Photoshop or your program of choice, and send it back to me. Entries will be judged by a specially appointed panel (OK, mostly me) and the best ones will show up on the Underground in the next few weeks.

Good luck!

(Yes, this one is for real.)

---

To reply, submit possible cheesy fillers, request past issues, correspond or subscribe write to the Lipscomb Underground Host.

LU#3 "Total Money Makeover!"
vol. XI, no. 278
September 13, 2005

The opinions expressed in The Lipscomb Underground are solely those of the particular contributor,
and are not necessarily representative of the opinions of the University, the subscribers, or most definitely, the Lipscomb Underground Host.

Copyright © 1999-2005

Use of the replies or graphics in The Lipscomb Underground without written consent of
The Lipscomb Underground Host is strictly prohibited.